[UPDATED] UNIVERSITY OF MAINE SYSTEM STATEMENT ON USM FACULTY VOTE RESULTS

University of Maine System Chancellor James H. Page issued a statement today:

This vote reflects the divided sentiment of USM's faculty and I take the viewpoints expressed very seriously.

My first priority is to engage with all of the parties to move USM forward in a unified way to serve our students and our state. Toward this goal, I will be at USM next week to meet with President Botman, the executive committee of the USM Faculty Senate, and others in the campus community to look at key issues we need to address.
